ENGLE AND SPEAKER STARE

Engle Counts Batting for Bedient in Seventh and Speaker Drives Him Home in the Tenth

(By Grantland Rice.)

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—By miffing an easy fly ball in the tenth round Fred Snodgrass today cost New York the championship of the world, and Christy Mathewson one of his greatest games. The Red Sox, hopelessly beaten, rallied again in the face of this ghastly break by the Giants' outfielder and finally fought their way across by the margin of a run, where with good support Mathewson would have drawn a shut out. It was a heartbreaking battle for the old master of the rifle-pit, who stood through the game through uncertain support as only a marvel of heart, brain and arm could have stood.

There was never a game in the world kicked away as this one was in the most dramatic finish ever staged. The Giants by clean slugging had mauled Bedient and Wood for two runs with Murray leading each assault. The last run came in the tenth when Murray and Merkle tore into Wood for doubles and put their people in front again.

Matty had but one round to work to win his championship. Engle, starting the tenth, lifted an easy fly to Snodgrass which dropped squarely in his hands and to the consternation of Giant rooters and the wild joy of Red Sox backers, the ball bounded squarely out, and amid the screaming din, Engle was on second base. Hooper then lined to Snodgrass and after Yerkes walked, Speaker lifted a weak foul fly which

WIFE AND FAMILY WITH ROOSEVELT

Mrs. Roosevelt, Ethel and Theodore Jr. Arrive in Chicago Today

KINGS CABLE SYMPATHY

Messages Received from Rulers of England, Denmark and Spain

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Just as soon as a speeding automobile could bring her to the bedside of her wounded husband, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt after traveling eighteen hours from New York city, reached Mercy hospital shortly before 9:30 a. m. today and was admitted to Colonel Roosevelt's room. With her family came Miss Ethel Roosevelt, her daughter; Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., her son, and Dr. Alexander Lambert, the Roosevelt family physician.

King Cables

Mrs. Roosevelt today received the following cablegram from King George V of England:

"I have been very much concerned to hear of the dastardly attack upon Colonel Roosevelt's life and trust that he will recover speedily."

Another personal cablegram was received today by Colonel Roosevelt from King Christian of Denmark, hoping for his speedy recovery.

Dr. Woods Hutchinson of New York, noted as a writer on medical subjects, who has been stumping the state of Indiana for the progressive cause, arrived here today and was permitted to visit Colonel Roosevelt for a few minutes. The colonel entrusted Dr. Hutchinson with a message of encouragement for the progressives of New York state.

A cable message which came from King Alfonso of Spain last night, was saved until today because Colonel Roosevelt was asleep. It was read to him today and the colonel expressed his pleasure that the king and queen of Spain would wish him well.

A lengthy cablegram was received today from King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, but has not been translated.

The following cable was received from Crown Prince Frederick of Germany and the crown princess. "Very anxious about your health. Hope you will soon recover."

Among the early messages received was one from A. Fallieres, president of France. It was several hours before it could be translated. It follows: "I congratulate you most sincerely on having most happily escaped from the horrible attempt directed against your person and I pray that you accept my best wishes for your speedy recovery and the expression of my whole-hearted sympathy."

DOVER TO APPEAR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Elmer Dover of Tacoma, Wash., telegraphed Senator Clapp today that he would appear here Friday. Dover was secretary of the 1904 national committee and recently testified before Senator Jones at Tacoma that duplicate lists of the 1904 contributions were in storage at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The following bulletin on Roosevelt's condition was issued at 1:30: Pulse, 90; temperature, 98.3-10 throughout the entire morning. Breathing easier, general condition excellent.

MURPHY, BEVAN, TERRILL

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The following bulletin was issued at 9:10 today at Mercy hospital:

"The records show that Colonel Roosevelt had a very good night; his temperature and pulse are normal; his highest pulse since 9:00 o'clock last night was 80, temperature 98.8, and that his pulse at 6 o'clock this morning was 74, temperature 98.6, and respiration 20; that he is having less irritation and less pleura from the injured rib than he did yesterday, that he did not have to have an anodyne for the pain. General condition excellent.

(Signed) "John M. Murphy, Arthur D. Bevan, S. L. Terrill."

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The crisis in the case of Colonel Roosevelt will come Friday, according to a statement made at noon today to the United Press by Dr. S. L. Terrill, the former president's personal physician.

"If there is any danger to the colonel from blood poisoning or lockjaw," he said, "it will be indicated by Friday by the presence of pus about the wound. If, however, by that time there is no indication of pus formation, his physicians will be able to assume that in the ordinary progress of the wound the colonel will be practically recovered in a few days. Of course we cannot say at this time what the developments will be, but there is nothing at present to indicate an unfavorable turn to the wound and we regard the outlook today as distinctly encouraging."

Dr. J. B. Murphy said: "Unless the bullet strikes a nerve, or infection is evident from the very first, (Continued on Page 6)

CORCORAN PLEA IS OVERRULED

Council Refuses to Revoke License After He Paid Fine for Selling to Posted Man

ALDERMEN GIVE WARNING

Say Next Time Complaint Is Brought Up They Will Vote the Other Way

After Edward Corcoran said that he had pleaded guilty to selling liquor to a posted man, in county court, that city council last night decided that he was not guilty by a vote of 19 to 2 and refused to revoke his license.

According to the testimony given by Corcoran himself, Detective Joseph McGrath entered his saloon on or about August 29 and seeing William Bender standing near the bar, asked Corcoran if he knew he was posted, to which he replied in the affirmative.

Two weeks later Corcoran was arrested charged with selling liquor to Bender on August 31 and when arraigned before Judge Brindley, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $15.

Corcoran when asked by Acting City Attorney P. W. Mahoney if he understood what he was doing when he pleaded guilty and if he had spoken truthfully, declared that he did.

Upon vote of the council Aldermen George B. Marvin, Jr., and Casberg voted to find Corcoran guilty. The other nineteen voted for acquittal.

The hearing was held upon petition of Alderman George B. Marvin, Jr., who demanded that Corcoran be brought before the council to answer why his license should not be revoked, he having pleaded guilty to selling liquor to a posted man. Corcoran was represented by Attorney O. R. Skaar.

Admits Guilt

After Detectives Joseph McGrath and W. H. Fitzsimmons testified that McGrath had called Corcoran's attention to the fact that Bender was posted, nearly two weeks before the alleged violation of the state law prohibiting the sale of liquor to posted men, Mr. Corcoran was called and gave the following testimony:

"I have known who Bender was and that he was posted since about August 20. I knew it before Detective McGrath told me. On September 4, the day I was arrested, Bender entered my saloon accompanied by Mr. Turner, another saloon keeper, and Ed Boyle. Turner bought the drinks but knowing that Bender was posted I gave him seltzer water. He demanded beer and upon my refusal became abusive. I threw the seltzer water in his face, told him to 'beat it' and started after him. He went out before I could get from behind the bar."

Testimony Confusing

In continuing, Mr. Corcoran said: "I did not sell liquor to Bender on August 31. I did not sell liquor to him after I knew he was posted which was about August 20."

At this point Attorney P. W. Mahoney who was acting as prosecuting attorney asked, "Did you realize what you were doing when you pleaded guilty?"

Corcoran: "Yes."

Mahoney: "I take it that you spoke the truth?"

Corcoran: "I did."

Boyle Called

Ed Boyle, employed as a dish washer at the Corcoran hotel, corroborated Corcoran's story.

STRANGE CAPITALISTS BUY THE OPTION ON CONTROL OF CITY STREET RAILWAY CO. LIKE GAS COMPANY SALE

SCHRANK IS SANE IN EYES OF LAW

Milwaukee District Attorney Says Roosevelt As-sailant Is Legally Sound-Minded

IS SORRY NOW FOR DEED

Would-be Assassin Today Expresses Remorse; Test Bullets for Poisoning

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 16.—John Schrank, the man who planned to slay Col. Roosevelt here, is legally sane, according to District Attorney W. C. Zabel today.

"The man has a perfect knowledge of right and wrong and realizes that the act which he committed was against the law," said the county prosecutor.

"Medically he may have a slight aberration, but only experts could determine that. The man will be given a fair and impartial trial. He has been granted ample time to prepare for this."

Meanwhile the prisoner has regained his composure from his ordeal in court yesterday when he appeared extremely nervous.

Sheriff Arnold directed that he be turned loose with other prisoners in the bull pen of the county jail. He today discussed his case with men serving short terms for chicken stealing, flirting and other minor offenses.

Schrank was reluctant when asked to talk to newspaper men today from behind the bull pen bars. The other prisoners flocked about him in hope he would add something to his story already told but Schrank insisted he had nothing to add to his original confession that he shot Colonel Roosevelt because he believed the third party candidate a menace to the country.

Schrank today refused to look over a newspaper which a reporter held up before him. He insisted that he did not care to discuss the case further more than to confirm his statement of last night that he was sorry he shot Roosevelt. Yesterday Schrank repeated that he was sorry his bullet had not killed Colonel Roosevelt.

Dean R. E. Sommers of Marquette university is today making a chemical test of the bullets that remained in the six shooter with which Schrank fired on Col. Roosevelt. A thick coating of grease covered the five remaining missiles and it was thought advisable to ascertain whether or not criminal ingenuity had prompted Schrank to mix a slow acting poison with the grease on the bullets.

District Attorney W. C. Zabel today appointed three local physicians whose names he withheld to make an immediate and secret investigation into the mental condition of John Schrank, the man who attempted to slay Colonel Roosevelt here.

Traction Transaction Following Gas and Electric Option Lends Color to Early Story

Supposition Is that Water Power Company Plant Will Run All City Utilities Soon

It was learned today that an option has been given for the sale of the control of the La Crosse City Street Railway company. Information is to the effect that the purchasers are the same as those who recently secured an option on the controlling stock of the La Crosse Gas and Electric company, and that the terms are similar.

H. M. Billsby, the Chicago concern which recently purchased the Minneapolis General Electric company, and which has been mentioned as possibly the capital back of the Gas and Electric deal, is rumored to be the purchaser. The presumption is that there exists a business relation between all these deals and the control of the La Crosse Water Power company properties, which were recently taken over by the bondholders.

Attempts to reach Frank P. Hixon, B. E. Edwards and Superintendent Peter Valler for verification and further details of the option sale failed today. The story is published upon information that seems reliable.

Late today word came from Chicago which seems to confirm the assertion that Billsby is the real owner of the option on the La Crosse Gas and Electric company stock.

WATER DAMAGES STOCK OF KOMISS-ROBERTSON AS RESULT OF STORM

Damage of approximately $2,500 was done to the stock of the Komiss-Robertson company, women's furnishers, 405 to 407 Main street, when water which had backed up on the rear portion of the roof of the MacMillan building as a result of the heavy rain fall yesterday, seeped through the roof of the structure.

But for the fact that Manager Charles Kellogg of the company was in the front part of the store at 6:15 o'clock last evening when the water first entered, the damage would have been much greater. Mr. Kellogg succeeded in moving a good share of the stock before the water reached it.

The loss is confined to machine underwear, waists, corsets, dressing sacks, skirts, timonias and some suits. The water on the floor at the rear of the store reached a depth of over three inches during the evening.

HOOD TALKS AT CONCORDIA HALL

Urges Voters to Support Good Men if They Want Good Legislation

HE COMPLAINS OF EXPENSE

Says Wisconsin Government Is Extravagant; Blames the State Commissions

"Study the men for whom you are voting and if you elect good men you will get good laws whereas if you do not you will get the same poor laws you have been getting for the last twenty years," said Attorney C. L. Hood at a democratic meeting at Concordia hall last evening.

Asserting that the problem of abolishing the trusts was the big question of the day, Mr. Hood told of the way in which the corporations have been conducting business. He declared that supply and demand does not regulate the price of articles but that the trusts say what these products shall sell for. Flour is one of the articles which sells at a lower price in London than it does here, said Mr. Hood.

Speaking of Roosevelt's campaign fund at the last election, Mr. Hood declared that the inquiry had shown that Mr. Archbold, a representative of the Standard Oil company, had donated to the fund because, as it was later discovered, they thought that the republican party would serve their interests best. "This is a great argument in favor of the democratic party," said Mr. Hood, "for according to this it is considered that the republicans will serve the interests of big business."

"We have the poorest governed state in the world today," asserted Attorney Hood. "The taxes are always increasing and what is the reason? Simply because of the fact that too many commissions have been created and all these commissioners draw large salaries for which the people derive no real benefits."

He declared that the railroad rate commission had been invented by the railroads themselves to legalize their charges on freight. "Although the railroads pay big taxes, who is it that really pays these taxes? It is the people who pay freight."

Comparing Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois in regard to the amount of taxes paid, Mr. Hood said that Wisconsin pays more taxes in proportion than do either of the other of those states. "In Wisconsin we pay $4.66 for every man, woman and child while in Iowa they pay $2.08 and in Illinois they pay but $1.86 a person."

The speaker alleged that extravagance had been shown in the many commissions which have been created in this state and for examples he cited the free library commission, "the expert drafter of bills," the state park board, industrial commission, the tuberculosis hospital "at which were only four Wisconsin people," the experimental station, state forestry commission, the fish commission and the state board of health. Small amounts were appropriated for the running of these commissions when they were instituted but the funds for the conducting of them has increased to an alarming extent, said he. He also declared that extravagance has been shown in the running of the state university as he considered that marble floors and expensive furnishings did not go to make a better education than did the old fashioned log schoolhouse where he asserted the real scholars were turned out.

BLACKHEADS are a local condition. Anyone is liable to have them. It depends on the condition of the pores at the time. Blackheads cannot be prevented or removed by washing or steaming. I have never known anything which would remove and prevent them except the formula which I have used myself with marvelous results.

First wash the face with hot water and soap. Then sprinkle some neroxin generously upon a sponge made wet with hot water. Then rub well for a few minutes on the parts of the skin which are affected with blackheads. This done, bathe the face with warm water, and dry. You should be able to secure the neroxin at any druggist for fifty cents.

FELICIA—I have never approved of dyeing, staining or bleaching the hair. Stains and bleaches must contain strong acids to do the work at all. This burns the life right out of the hair. You complain of short hair and dandruff. A marvelous hair grower is the one I use myself. As proof of what it does, I never have to use rats, puffs or switches. For the dandruff, however, use the tonic I give you here, also the shampoo I give below to Mrs. C. L. M.

With a half-pint of water mix half a pint of alcohol. To this add one ounce of beta-quinol. Shake thoroughly, and it will then be ready to use. If you prefer, you can use imported bay rum instead of the water and alcohol. The beta-quinol you can get at almost any drug store for not more than fifty cents.

MRS. C. L. M.—Dandruff can be entirely stopped. Your scalp pores should be cleaned, and the scurf removed. This shampoo will do it. Dissolve one teaspoonful of eggol in half a cup of hot water. When entirely dissolved and the solution has become lukewarm, pour onto the hair and shampoo in the usual manner. It makes an exquisite lather. After rubbing it well into the scalp so it is perfectly clean, wash the hair thoroughly with plenty of warm water, and rinse with cold water. The druggist will let you have the eggol for not more than twenty-five cents. Use also the hair tonic, the formula for which I have given to "Felicia."

ISABEL—Never use green soap on your hair. It is exceedingly caustic, and although a good cleanser it injures the hair. Use the shampoo given to Mrs. C. L. M. and you will find the result more satisfactory, and your hair will not be so unmanageable as from using soap.

You can get rid of the wrinkles on the forehead and under the eyes, in fact all over the face, and make yourself look years younger by using this wrinkle remover. It is my own formula, and I use it constantly myself.

In a large bowl pour one-half pint of boiling water. In this pour two tablespoonfuls of glycerine. Place this bowl in a pan of water on a slow fire. In a few minutes add two ounces of eptol and continue stirring until all is dissolved. At first it will look like jelly, when it will start to cream. When it does this, remove it from the fire and stir constantly until cold. Then keep it in an air-tight jar. You should be able to get eptol at any good drug store, and it should not cost you more than fifty cents.

Apply this cream every morning with the tips of the fingers, after washing your face with very warm water and soap. Use very liberally all over the face. After you have applied it, take up the flesh in your fingers, pinch it and roll it for a few minutes until the cream disappears. Then apply your complexion powder. This cream will not grow hair.

HOPEFUL—Your superfluous hair problem is easily solved. The use of simple sulfo solution is unexcelled for the purpose. It leaves the skin as smooth and clean as a baby's. Sulfo solution will cost you one dollar at the drug store and is fully worth it. Apply this solution freely with the finger tips on the hair you want removed. Keep the hair moist with it until it has dissolved. This will take but two or three minutes. Then wipe off with a warm, damp cloth and wash the skin with warm water.

JOHNSON HEARS NEWS AT SPEECH

Roosevelt's Running Mate Told of Shooting While Talking at Youngstown, Ohio

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 16.—Assured just before leaving for Youngstown that Colonel Roosevelt was not dangerously wounded, Governor Hiram Johnson of California, Roosevelt's running mate, said: "Wasn't it just like him to insist upon delivering his speech? I feel sorry for the man who did the shooting. I believe his fanatical act was due to inflamed sentiment and hope that it will be a lesson to those who do not hesitate to arouse such deluded people."

Johnson received his first news of the shooting in an auditorium when he was speaking. He was too stunned to talk for several moments. Fearing a panic, police prevented the sale of newspaper extras near the building, but by the time Johnson entered the crowd, when he had finished his political discussion, Johnson quietly asked: "Did you know that Colonel Roosevelt was shot a little while ago?"

There were cries of horror. Then, raising both hands, Johnson solemnly said:

"Let us pray God he'll stay all right until after November." A chorus of "Amen's" followed. Johnson wired: Roosevelt: "We all rejoice in your providential escape. May God be with you always as he was tonight."

TRAIN JUMPS BRIDGE

ENGINEER AND SCORES OF CATTLE AND HOGS ARE KILLED IN SOUTH ST. PAUL WRECK

ST. PAUL, Oct. 16.—One man was killed, two others seriously injured and scores of sheep, cattle and hogs killed when an engine and eight cars plunged thirty feet into the Mississippi river from the end of the open draw bridge at South St. Paul at 6:40 a. m. today. The train was part of the South St. Paul Terminal railroad equipment.

The accident occurred about two miles from Dayton's Bluff. The train was on its way to South St. Paul with a string of eighteen cars. The bridge was open to allow the passage of the steamer Hiawatha.

There's a reason for everything but a "bucking" gasoline engine. All the powder some brave men have ever smelt was on their ladies' faces.

ELEVEN CONVICTS STILL AT LARGE

Posses Have Lost All Trace of Men Who Escaped from Wyoming Penitentiary

RAWLINS, Wyo., Oct. 16.—Seventy-two hours after the outbreak at the Wyoming state penitentiary here today found eleven convicts still at large, and the scores of posses apparently without a clue.

The posses have moved to the hills sixty miles southwest of here. Some of the pursuers have been in the saddle thirty-six hours and are tiring rapidly.

A bitter political feud between Governor Carey and republican wheelhorses in Wyoming has resulted from the prison delivery.

The governor accuses the republican leaders of purposely exaggerating the gravity of the affair, in an effort to force him into calling out troops. The republicans assert the governor accused them of being in league with the fugitive convicts but the governor denies this.

HOW FAR DID SCHRANK'S BULLET GO
The attempted assassination of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt halted
the presidential campaign with a shock that went to the hearts of the men and women of America. Sorrow and indignation that was tense for the first hour of uncertainty was followed by relief and gladness when
the good news came that the ex-
president's wound would in all probability result in nothing worse than temporary pain and incapacity.
There are many phases of the incident that appeal to us in various ways—to our sympathies, to our intelligence, to our emotions.
There must have been intense relief everywhere when it became possible to believe with some firmness
that this was not the result of political conspiracy, not an act of collusion by sane minds, but the irregionable crime of a madman. Had there been the deliberation of normal
intelligence in the attack, had it been representative of the feeling of even the lower stratum of our society, it would have been a damning
reflection upon this greatest of free governments. No man is immune from danger of the acts conceived in diseased minds, and it is the penalty of eminence attended by much publicity to attract in an extreme degree the attention of homicidal
maniacs. They exist in every land,
under every form of government,
and their conduct has not the slightest political significance. Therefore the act of Schrank was a national misfortune, but in no sense a national disgrace.
That the crime was committed in Wisconsin is a circumstance which is of concern to our people. The news that the assailant had that day entered this state for the first time was welcome indeed, and criticism relative to the perpetration of the act
therefore narrows down to a question of policing in Milwaukee. The honor of the Badger state is not involved.
The first concern of everybody was
for the recovery of Colonel Roosevelt. That assured, talk turned rapidly to the possible political effect.
"An assassination made Roosevelt president in the first instance,
would an attempted assassination restore him to that high office?"
The question was frankly raised on every hand. It is still open. Men ask if this thing is an omen. The escape of Colonel Roosevelt seemed miraculous. The heavy revolver, the close range, the deadly accuracy of the aim seemed fatal. Could it be mere luck that caused a folded manuscript to intervene and save the life of this man? Or was it the expression of an Omnipotent intent?
We do not know. No man knows these things. We must be content with the knowledge that circumstances thwarted a heinous crime.
Roosevelt met the crisis like a man. He proved his courage in the extreme moment. He was never so typical of the Bull Moose as when he charged upon his political foes
with a bullet in his breast. If he
"over played" it a little, we must remember that he carried a deep wound close to vital organs the seriousness of which he could not himself measure.
The thing that is to Roosevelt's advantage in this incident is the psychological effect it may have upon the public. The shooting of the candidate is in no sense an issue. His assault represents no faction opposing him. The anti-third term talk which sowed the seed of murder in the crazed mind of Schrank was legitimate political discussion, and was confined to the administration supporters. So far as may be found in the recorded utterances neither Governor Wilson nor Senator La Follette has ever employed that argument. But had they used it the fact would have been no just subject for criticism. The assault is an unfortunate incident that should not change the vote of a single person.

It will change votes. No man guided by deliberate intelligence will change his vote because of the Milwaukee crime. But the affair is bound to result in the polling for Roosevelt of an immense emotional vote. "There's a man for you!" The thought will control the actions of thousands who will hardly give a secondary thought to the question of whether this country wants to legalize the trusts. To some extent the chivalrous conduct of Governor Wilson in declining to make addresses
now that Colonel Roosevelt cannot personally answer them may offset
the sentimental turn to Roosevelt,
but the hero worshiper will have
his idol, just the same.
There is a possibility that the wave of emotion may sweep many of the close states in which Wilson and Roosevelt were, the principle contenders, and where Wilson had the advantage, into the Roosevelt column.
The effect may elect Roosevelt. That is not probable, but it is not improbable that it may suffice to deadlock
the college and throw the election
into the house.

LIVING BEYOND ONE'S MEANS TODAY'S MANIA
Why are modern men and women
so extravagant? Simply because a spirit of rivalry which forces families into expenditures far beyond their means has arisen. Very little real satisfaction is secured by the lavish spending so prevalent today.
The object seems to be merely to "put it over" some one else. In the end nothing is achieved, for there is always a richer aspirant for social honors who can spend just a little more and so carry away whatever distinction there may be in a foolish expenditure of money.
A contemporary review says these points are driven home in "The Rich Mrs. Burgoyne," a new book by Kathleen Norris. We have not read the book, but it is probably worth while. The critic observes that Mrs.
Norris preaches a gospel much needed in this day of mad social rivalry
and silly display of the purely material resources. She brings one back to the fundamentals, showing that the best and surest happiness is obtained by doing good to others, being superior to the mere appearance, and living within one's means. If the money that is spent in gaudy parade and pretense of being wealthier
than one really is brought any solid contentment there might be some justification for it, but as a matter of fact such a manner of life leads only to unrest and strain. Half of the nervous breakdowns so common among women today are directly due to the artificial tension which they maintain.

SCIENCE WILL RECREATE FUEL
Intensive cultivation is to supply
the world's fuel hereafter, and again science has stepped in to solve the problem which has been puzzling mankind.
The fact that the chemists of the world can make wood grow has been successfully demonstrated by Dr.
David T. Day of Washington, petroleum expert for the United States
geological survey and government
representative with the 200 members of the International Congress of Applied Chemistry, who are touring the country at present.
By the system evolved by Dr. Day,
wood can be made to grow by the proper use of sunshine and the introduction of necessary ingredients
into the native soil. Forests treated by the intensive method will grow
so much faster than normal that there is no limit to the amount of fuel which can be produced.
The hue and cry as to the dangers confronting us as the present
coal supply is exhausted will subside as soon as governmental experts can successfully demonstrate the theory of intensive cultivation.
Several important discoveries have been made along this line in the growing of hot house products.
When outdoor vegetation can be made to respond to fertilization, as hot house plants do to the introduction of heat, then the reforestation
of the country will be assured.
A Chicago waiter has been arrested for flirting after being warned once by the police. He is believed to be the first waiter in history who refused to take any kind of a tip.
Chicago boasts of a woman thief
who deceived her husband for nine years. That's nothing. Some women go through their husband's pockets every night.
Doctor says hot water will cure
delirium tremens. It may be added that if a man never drinks anything
but hot water he will never have them.

An Artful Dodger
"Papa," said George, "it worries
me awful to think how much trouble
I give mamma."
"She hasn't complained."
"No, she's very patient. But she often sends me to the shops for things and they are a good ways off,
and I know she gets cross waiting
when she's in such in dreadful hurry."
"Not often, I fancy."
"Oh, she's nearly always in a hurry. She gets everything all ready for baking and finds at the last minute she hasn't any yeast, or she gets a pudding all mixed and finds
she hasn't any nutmeg or something,
and then she's in an awful stew,
'cause the oven is all ready and maybe visitors are coming, and I can't run a very long distance, you know;
and I feel awful sorry for mamma."
"Humph! Well, what can you do about it?"
"I was thinking you might get me
a bicycle."—Pearson's Weekly.
Prepared For Him
"This is the opportunity of a lifetime, madam," declared the smooth-tongued canvasser as he stood at the door.
"Seems to me, I've heard that before," thought the housewife.
"Opportunity knocks at everyone's door—but only once," continued the caller.
"That's where you're mistaken,
young feller," snapped the woman as she reached behind her. "Opportunity has knocked at my door eight times this week so far. Jest in case he should knock again I have been savin' this kettle o' hot suds."
But Opportunity departed hurriedly.
Future Rockefeller
A brilliant New York lawyer said
at a dinner at the Lotus club apropos
of certain trust magnates:
"Thanks to watered stock and watered stock is criminal abroad—
these men are indeed rich beyond the dreams of avarice."
"If the watering of stock is allowed to keep on we'll hear our billionaires talking like this some day."
"Hello! There goes Jones in his 300 horse power car. Do you know him?"
"Do I know him! Do I know
Jones! Why, man alive, Jones and I were struggling young millionaires
together!"
Just Thinking
A well known Liverpool clergyman, the Rev. James Hamilton, tells a story of a fishing experience in Shetland.
Accompanied by a local youth, Mr.
Hamilton was out fishing for sea
trout, when his foot slipped on a stone and he overbalanced. Encumbered with heavy waders, which quickly filled with water, Mr. Hamilton was in considerable danger of drowning. After a good deal of struggling, however, he managed to reach safety, though in a very exhausted state.
When he recovered his breath he remarked reproachfully to the youth,
who had stood placidly watching
him: "I notice you never tried to help me."
"Na," came the slow reply, "but it wasna because I wasna thinkin'
o't."

A Convincing Argument
Two intrepid explorers stood on top of the earth. Squatted about on gumdrop boxes were Skip-the-Rope, Walrus-Tooth Charley and several other natives. One of the explorers leaned against the Great Nail in profound study. The other paced back and forth in a deep frown and heavy furs. They had made photographs,
taken all the observations laid down
by science.
"We know we're here," said the man leaning against the Nail, "and yet, when we go back home they'll be sure to call us fakers and humbugs."
"Yes," replied the other explorer,
with a sigh, as he looked up at the United States flag proudly waving from the point of the Nail, "they'll demand proof! the proof! and will laugh at what we have to offer. What can we do, Charley, to make 'em believe?"
The Eskimo pointed to the Big Nail.
"Take it home with you," he said.
None Had Been Sold
Everett Shinn, the painter and wit of New York, scored off an enemy at a tea in this fashion:
To this enemy, himself a painter
of the Bouguereau school, Mr. Shinn said:
"How many pictures have you painted in the course of your long
and honorable career?"
"I haven't the least idea," was
the reply.
Mr. Shinn laughed maliciously.
"Some day, then," he said, "I'll come round to your studio and count
them."

CHAPTER XVIII.
Oh, for a Horse.
The farmer forgave the general
with lofty dignity and turned to Bartlett with suggestions and offers of help. There was a telephone in the village store. They could telephone Boston or Portland, or they could telephone Harrison and Harrison, could telegraph the larger cities. With the police notified promptly, Alphonse would not be able to get far.
Bartlett meditatively chewed a
straw and pondered the suggestion,
leaning against the nearest stall
and frowning thoughtfully at the general's car, while the others
stood around him in a semicircle.
They were ten miles from the nearest railroad, and the train service, when they did strike a road,
was decidedly poor in that out-of-the-way locality. Still, by good luck,
quick work and prompt connections,
Batchelor would be able to reach Boston late that afternoon or evening and New York before ten a. m.
Saturday morning, and at ten a. m.
Saturday the last fight was to be fought, the last stand made. Without their brilliant young leader, the opponents to the cotton ring would be outnumbered and outclassed, hopelessly beaten. Bartlett's fighting blood was up at the thought.
Was he to have his week spoiled by the worthless Alphonse's devilry?
Batchelor should not run the slightest chance of reaching Boston that day, if he could help it. Henrietta had a little money in her bag that would tide them over. Better avoid anything to do with telegraph and telephones as long as possible. They could make an attempt to reach Harrison and get lost. But getting lost wasn't as easy as it appeared,
when the general was along, thoroughly determined not to get lost.
Bartlett's thoughts were broken in
on by the Watermelon in a way that caused him quick alarm. The young man had at last awakened to the gravity of the situation, as Bartlett
had been expecting him to do ever since the trip began.
"We had better telephone," said
the Watermelon, "as Parker says.
We can telephone for money and have it sent to Harrison, and we can ride to Harrison and probably get there the same time as the money does and get the train for Boston. It's time we were back in New York, anyway."
The trip was ended and the sooner
he left Billy the better. He could give them the slip at Harrison and once more hit the road.
"Telephoning from here won't help matters at all," objected Bartlett, fighting for that opportunity to get lost alone, just for one more
day—twelve hours would be enough.
"We can drive to Harrison and tel-ephon from there. It is only a ten-mile drive. We can make it in fifteen minutes."
"No joy-riding," warned Henrietta, "when we haven't any money to pay the fines. I don't want to do my time in the workhouse."
"We will do it in twenty minutes,
then," laughed Bartlett, who saw another way to create a delay that might be used with advantage.
The Parkers scorned to accept the few dollars Henrietta still had
in the dark recesses of her bag.
"You can send it to us," they
said, and the farmer added, heaping coals of fire on the general's unfortunate head, "we trust you perfectly."
The Watermelon looked sharply
at Bartlett and wondered if he were up to any tricks. The Watermelon had only ten more miles of Billy and he didn't want to shorten the precious time by a confession if there were no need for one.
"Let's hurry," said he. There was no need of prolonging the misery in the thought of the parting.
"Worrying over his affairs,"
thought Bartlett. "He has come to
at last."
The general insisted upon driving, and as it was his car, Bartlett perforce had to be content. He protested, however, that he knew the road thoroughly, and could direct
the general with no instructions at all from the farmer, waving them
all good-naturedly aside.
They were all quiet as they started down the road. Henrietta was depressed thinking about Alphonse.
She had always stood in awe of his superlative virtues, and the fact that he lacked several was a bit of a shock. The general also was grieved. He had trusted Alphonse and Alphonse had failed him. Billy was silent, for she wanted to think,
and all her thoughts were of the youth beside her, tall, slim, good-looking, with his merry eyes and devil-may-care indifference.
They could all go to New York
together, she planned, and later,
when her father and herself went
to their summer place on the coast
of Maine, they would get him to visit them there in their own home.
And in the winter—and Billy's
thoughts lost themselves in the hazy rosy glow of the future, with its possibilities and pleasures.
It was after three. The day was intensely warm, even in the shady wooded road on which they found themselves. They had been running through the woods for nearly an hour, and apparently had not reached the end of it. The last abandoned farm-house, gray,
weather-beaten, forlorn, had long ago been passed. The birds chattered
shrilly in the leafy profusion
overhead; somewhere out of sight
in the underbrush a brook gurgled

refreshingly over its stony bed, and
once, far away and very faintly,
they heard the wild loon's dismal

The general stopped the car and turned sidewise to face those on the back seat. "We are lost," said he.
"Look at the odometer. We have come twenty miles since we left Stoneham and we are no nearer Harrison than when we started."
"Lost again," wailed Henrietta.
"How very stupid we are!"
"It's my fault," admitted Bartlett truthfully, but with contrition.
"I said to take this turn back there near that barrel factory."
"We can go back," suggested Billy.
"Parker told me last night," said
the general gloomily, "that there were no settlements north of here
for forty miles. We have probably

"If we have come twenty miles,
we can go twenty more without dying," said Bartlett.
"I don't know," laughed Henrietta. "I am famished now."
"So am I," wailed Billy. "Henrietta, haven't we a thing to eat?"
"Not a thing," said Henrietta.
"Hit her up," cried Bartlett, jovially. "We will break some more speed laws, by George. I want something to eat."

THE MAN OF TO-DAY HAS HIS CLOTHES MADE TO MEASURE

SOME men still think high prices are necessary for clothes made to-measure. It is these men we wish to talk to. Our method of mill to man tailoring does away with the middleman's profit. Operating a large tailoring business--selling direct to consumer through our own retail shops enables us to make good clothes to measure at our famous low price.

HAVING made a life study of the special order business and keeping in close touch with our customers and their demands, we are in a position to satisfy the most critical.

WHILE our prices are very low--our tailoring, our fabrics and our service is high in quality. We are making clothes for thousands of men over and over again for many seasons--because there is lasting satisfaction in every garment we make. Let us show you how much we can do for you for

Ships Ordered to Hold in

ULTIMATUM IS PREPARED

Bulgaria with Serbia and Greece Prepare Last
Demand Upon
Sultan

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 16.—The admiralty today ordered all war ships held in readiness to put to sea at a moment's notice. Since the war in Tripoli began the Italian fleet has held Turkey's fighting craft bottled up in port. Turko-Italian peace having been concluded the sultan means to use them against his enemies in the Balkans.

The ports received telegrams today announcing that the Turkish ministers have left Greece, Bulgaria and Serbia without asking for their passports. It was not denied that the informal style of their departure was intended as an affront to the Balkan allies.

Draft Ultimatum.
BELGRADE, Oct. 16.—The Bulgarian, Serbian and Greek chancelleries today were engaged in drafting an ultimatum to Turkey and a declaration of war to follow it in a few hours unless the sultan yields.

Montenegrins Victorious.
VIENNA, Oct. 16.—Messages from Constantinople today declared the Montenegrin advance into Albania has been continued. Despatches from Cetinje reported the Montenegrins uniformly victorious. Officials believe the Montenegrin version, though deemed it exaggerated.

Turko-Greek frontier fighting is occurring, but accounts of the big battle that has been reported are discredited. Massacres of Greeks, Bulgarians and Servians in Turkey are being reported.

BUDAPEST, Oct. 16.—Turkey has given the Balkan states 24 hours to apologize for the "insolent note" according to a message from Constantinople.

CHARGES MOOSE WITH BIG FRAUD

Declares They Seized Upon
Republican California
Machine Illegally

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—United States Senator John D. Works of California today issued a signed statement charging the progressive third party movement in California with gross fraud and asking all progressive republicans to vote for Governor Wilson for president. He also pointed out the impossibility of the republicans carrying California for Taft because of the manner in which the bull moose leaders of that state fraudulently entered and captured the republican primaries, and he advised all republicans in California and in other states where Taft electors are not on the republican ballot, to vote for Wilson.

Senator Works outlined the manner in which the Roosevelt men, not entitled to a place on the ballot at the primary election, caused their candidates and voters to swear that they were republicans in order to enter the republican primary to nominate for office on the republican ticket men who were not republicans but members of the third party.

The statement pointed out that these persons, by means of false affidavits, obtained control of the republican state central committee of California and permitted third party men to act in a republican convention under the laws of California to place Roosevelt electors on the republican ticket.

MRS. ROSENTHAL WEEPS ON STAND

Tells of Becker's Intimacy
with Her Husband Through
Tears

ON STAND FORTY MINUTES

Defense Makes No Attempt
to Break Down
the Widow's
Story

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A woman, clad in deepest mourning, whose voice broke while she gave her testimony, and who was in tears much of the time, was the central figure in the Becker murder trial today. She was Mrs. Herman Rosenthal, widow of the murdered gambler, who is alleged to have been slain because he squealed regarding the payment of police protection money for permitting gambling.

On the stand only forty minutes, Mrs. Rosenthal swore positively that Lieut. Becker was her husband's partner and that he had been so friendly with the dead gambler that he personally told her that any time she or Rosenthal wanted a favor, night or day, all she had to do was to get him (Becker) on the telephone.

John F. McIntyre, attorney for Becker, made no attempt to upset this part of her story with his cross-examination. Instead he tried at great length to get the woman to admit that Bridge Webber and Jack Rose were bitter enemies of her husband and that they plotted his death. But all she would admit was that they had not been particularly friendly.

M'DONALD DIES IN OLD SOLDIERS' HOME

William Stair, 1506 Rose street, today received a letter from Milwaukee informing him that his stepfather, Allen W. McDonald, died at the National Soldiers' Home there Monday. The cause of death was cancer.

Mr. McDonald formerly lived in this city for many years and he was well known here. He served in company B, Seventeenth Pennsylvania cavalry. Mr. McDonald was 74 years old. His wife died six months ago.

Surviving him are two granddaughters, Mrs. Pittenger and Mrs. Burdick of this city, and a stepson, William Stair, also of La Crosse.

The body will be brought here for burial, but the funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

JEAN WEIR TO PRESENT SKETCH

"His Last Offense" Is the Title of Comedy Played
at the Majestic
Tomorrow

Miss Jean Weir & Co., in "His Last Offense," will be one of the leading attractions of the vaudeville program to be seen at the Majestic Theater Oct. 17. Miss Weir is one of the best known American actresses and has a supporting company that is said to be very capable.

The playlet is constructed along original lines and is made the more interesting by special scenery and properties which give the appearance of as cozy a home as the stage has ever reproduced. The characters are the husband (Jack Carrington), the husband's brother (Jack Carrington), a police officer (Will Becker), and the wife (Miss Weir). The husband's brother is a burglar and he starts to rob the home of his own brother when circumstances arise that make this "his last offense." The playlet has a very moral tone, although it is not boosted along this line. The claims made for it are that it is elaborately staged, splendidly acted, and of a nature that is worth while on the part of the most intelligent theatergoers. The tendency to cheap vaudeville sketches is much deplored by leading managers and "His Last Offense" is often cited as an example of what the ideal "sketch" is like.

In other cities Jean Weir & Co., in "His Last Offense" has been pronounced the most entertaining and most novel offering that vaudeville has brought and the chances are that it will be a big success here.

Both Miss Weir and Mr. Carrington are well known here, having played the city before.

HADGRAFTS OBSERVE 20TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hadgraft, 1007 Caledonia street, entertained a number of their friends last evening in honor of their twentieth wedding anniversary. A supper was served the guests, after which all spent a social evening. Mr. and Mrs. Hadgraft were presented with a beautiful hand painted ice cream set by the guests. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Ortwein, Wright, Cameron, Simcox, Franz, Clarke, Gifford and Mrs. and Miss Danchertsen.

Gifts of the Heart.

Gifts from the hand are silver and gold, but the heart gives that which neither silver nor gold can buy. SALEM TRIAL IS

FORMALLY OPENED

Indictments Against Caruso, Ettor and Giovannitti Are Read Today

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 16.—The trial of Jose Caruso, Joseph Ettor and Arturo Giovannitti opened today with the reading of the indictments against the defendants by the clerk of the superior criminal court.

The indictment against Caruso alleged that while engaged in a riot with strikers at Lawrence last winter he fired a revolver, the bullet killing Annie Lopizzo. The indictments against Ettor and Giovannitti detailed certain speeches said to have been made by the leaders, and which the state alleges so inflamed Caruso's mind that he fired his revolver.

Immediately after the indictments were read District Attorney Atwell began his opening address to the jury, the jury box having been filled late yesterday. The district attorney's opening address was expected to be finished by noon. Attorney Moore for the defense will follow.

Two Hundred Business Men
Enjoy 6 O'Clock Dinner
at the Y. M. C. A.
Last Night

PLAN QUARTERLY MEETINGS

Rabbi Rypins Unable to Be Present; Gran Is
Speaker of the Evening

Almost two hundred business men each equipped with a strong appetite and a best suit of clothes sat down to the 6 o'clock dinner of the board of trade last night at the Y. M. C. A. The dinner was a sumptuous affair and the guests did ample justice to the viands as served by the association lunch authorities.

On account of late trains Rabbi I. L. Rypins of St. Paul, who was scheduled to deliver an address at the dinner, was unable to be present and his regrets were voiced by A. C. Gran. The chief business of the meeting which was held after the banquet was the reports of the captains of the different teams which are scouting for new members. The reports showed that the committees had not been idle as a total of seventy-five new members had been secured. An amendment to the constitution was adopted which provides for only four regular meetings during the year on the first Tuesday of the months to be designated. Hereafter monthly meetings had been held but as the attendance at them has been on the wane it was thought that four rousing meetings a year with supper attached would prove more effective.

Secretary A. C. Gran of the Y. M. C. A. in a well aimed talk told of the work of the association in helping the youth of the city and said that there are constantly arising cases which required much special attention and sacrifice but that the generosity of many business men is doing much toward increasing the usefulness of the institution.

The session adjourned at 8:15 to the gymnasium where a game of volleyball was played between two teams of business men and later enjoyed a swimming exhibition in the natatorium.

A pleasant feature of the evening was the musical program rendered by the high school orchestra under the able direction of Miss Martha Rollins.

CHARLESTON POLICE HOLD VA-LISE FULL OF LETTERS DE-CLARING WAR ON THEO-DORE ROOSEVELT

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 16.—The police are holding at headquarters the valise left in this city by John Schrank, who tried to kill Colonel Roosevelt. It contained many letters couched in incoherent phrases, chief of which was the sentiment: "Down with Roosevelt. We want no king in America."

The grip also contained natural-ization papers issued to John Schrank, a box of 38 calibre cartridges, a box which had contained a pistol of the same calibre, and a razor as well as a well worn outfit of clothing.

Schrank came here by steamer and stopped at the Mosley house. The police here today wired the Milwaukee authorities asking them whether they wanted the grip and its contents, especially the letters, which are partly in German and partly in English.

SHOOTING SHOCKS

LONDON CROWDS

Greater Sensation Than if the Attempt Had Been Made on a King

ALL EUROPE IS DISTURBED

Newspapers Subordinate Balkan War News to Milwaukee Shooting

LONDON, Oct. 16.—News of the attempted assassination of a crowned head could not cause a greater sensation than prevailed in London over the shooting of Colonel Roosevelt. The first dispatch telling of the shooting arrived too late on account of the difference in time in Milwaukee and London. Extra editions appeared, some of which even the American press could hardly outdo in typographical display and superlativeness of expression.

Some early reports had it that the colonel was dead. Later it was announced that the would-be assassin had fired at and missed him. It was not until the early afternoon editions appeared that it was definitely known he was not dead.

About the newspaper offices, where bulletins could not have been posted in quicker succession if King George himself had been shot, throngs gathered so densely that the police had trouble in keeping traffic in motion.

Messages from continental capitals reported almost equal interest throughout the most of Europe.

The evening newspapers subordinated even the Balkan war, vital as it is in importance in Europe to accounts of the attack on Colonel Roosevelt.

The Evening Standard, referring to the assassinations of Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley, in connection with the attempt against Roosevelt, remarked that American statesmen have learned how terrible a thing it is to live in a country where politics is taken so seriously.

Stevens Point Man Found Guilty of Perjury; Wanted to Open Saloon

A verdict of guilty was returned by the jury empaneled by the United States district court in the case of Joseph Rybicki, charged with perjury, Monday night. After remaining out for several hours the jury returned at 9:55.

Rybicki, whose home is at Stevens Point, was alleged to have committed perjury in swearing falsely to his length of residence in Wisconsin in order to procure his second papers.

According to the testimony, Rybicki resided in Wisconsin for twenty years, then went to Chicago, where he spent five years. He later returned to Stevens Point.

Shortly after his return to Stevens Point, Rybicki decided to open a saloon and in order to comply with a state law which provides that license shall only be granted to citizens of the United States, he took out his second papers.

Under the United States laws governing the issuance of citizenship papers an applicant must have been a resident of the state in which he makes application for at least one year previous to the time of the naturalization proceedings. In order to procure his papers without delay, Rybicki swore that he was a resident of Wisconsin for one year previous.

Upon presentation of the testimony the jury decided that Rybicki had perjured himself in making this declaration. Sentence will be passed by Judge A. L. Sanborn this afternoon.

have paid $520,000 to see these eight battles and now that the entire series was oanked and massed into one afternoon's work, the frenzy and mania of the occasion can be appreciated by every fan who thrills and shivers under ordinary incidents.

Manager McGraw evidently was not satisfied with the stuff. Marquard showed when he warmed up and five minutes before the play started he sent a hurry-up call for Matty to work out at breakneck speed. Bedient showed far more speed than Wood as they warmed up together with Manager Stahl between them to pass judgment.

First Inning
NEW YORK—Devore grounded to Wagner and was out at first. Doyle out. Wagner to Stahl. Snodgrass walked. Snodgrass reached second when Wagner dropped Cady's throw to catch him stealing and an error was chalked up against the Red Sox shortstop. Murray out, Gardner to Stahl. No runs, no hits, no errors.

BOSTON—Hooper bunted the first ball pitched into Merkle's hands and was beaten to the bag by the Giant first baseman, who made the out unassisted. Yerkes fanned. Speaker singled to right and kept on going to second and was safe on Doyle's fumble of Devore's throw. Lewis fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Mathewson started better in the last half of the first inning than he did in the first inning of either of his previous games. He disposed of the Red Sox with eleven pitched balls. He put the ball over and made them hit.

Second Inning
NEW YORK—Merkle fanned. Herzog flied to Speaker. Meyers was safe on Gardner's fumble of his easy grounder. Fletcher singled to center. Meyers reached third when Gardner fumbled Wagner's throw after Cady had thrown to Wagner and caught Meyers off second. Fletcher took second on the play. Mathewson flied to Speaker. No runs, one hit, two errors.

The error by Gardner, the Red Sox third baseman, almost offset Bedient's good pitching in the first half of the second. Gardner fumbled an easy grounder and dropped the ball thrown to third to head off Meyers. Bedient retired the Giants on fourteen pitched balls.

BOSTON—Gardner walked. Stahl forced Gardner at second. Doyle to Fletcher. Wagner singled to left on the hit-and-run. Murray's quick return of the ball holding Stahl at second. Cady flied to Merkle. Bedient out, Doyle to Merkle. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The Red Sox had Matty going in the last half of the second, Matty putting himself in a hole by giving Gardner, the first man up, a pass.

Third Inning
NEW YORK—Devore walked, getting four straight balls. Doyle out, Gardner to Stahl. Devore going to second. Snodgrass out to Stahl, unassisted. Devore taking third on the play. Murray doubled to left center, scoring Devore. Merkle out, Wagner to Stahl. One run, one hit, no errors.

BOSTON—Hooper out, Doyle to Merkle. Yerkes out, Matty to Merkle. Speaker fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Mathewson easily put down the top of the Red Sox batting order. Speaker fanned on four pitched balls, swinging hard at two bad ones.

Fourth Inning
NEW YORK—Herzog doubled to left, into the left field bleachers. Meyers sacrificed. Gardner to Stahl. Herzog taking third. Fletcher flied out to Gardner. Matty flied to Hooper. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Bedient again pulled himself together after a bad start. McGraw relied on Fletcher and Matty to bring Herzog home from third following Herzog's double and Meyers' sacrifice, but Fletcher and Matty could only pop easy flies.

BOSTON—Lewis out, Fletcher to Merkle. Gardner doubled to center, but was out at third trying to stretch it into a triple. Snodgrass to Doyle to Herzog. Stahl fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Gardner's double was a terrific line drive straight into Snodgrass' hands, but too hot to be handled. Two perfect throws by Snodgrass to Doyle to Herzog just nipped the third baseman as he slid into third.

Fifth Inning
NEW YORK—Devore singled. His hard grounder hit Bedient on the feet and bounded back almost to the plate. Devore died stealing. Cady to Wagner. Doyle flied to Hooper. Against the right field fence, Snodgrass singled to left. Murray fouled out to Cady. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Hooper's catch of Doyle's drive in this half session was the best one of the series. Doyle's drive would have gone over the low right field fence which held the crowd back had not Hooper, after racing with his back to the ball, leaped into the air and pulled it down.

BOSTON—Wagner flied to Murray. Cady flied to Devore. Bedient flied to Devore. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Matty disposed of the Red Sox on four pitched balls. Wagner's drive to Murray being almost a double into the left field bleachers. Murray caught it with his back against the fence.

Sixth Inning
NEW YORK—Merkle flied to Hooper. Herzog out. Wagner to Stahl. Meyers walked. Fletcher fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

BOSTON—Hooper popped out to Markle. Yerkes singled to right center. Speaker walked. Lewis forced Speaker at second. Fletcher to Doyle, and Yerkes was same at third. Yerkes was caught off third. Meyers to Matty to Herzog, after Lewis started for second on an attempted double steal. No runs, one hit, no errors.

A foxy play of the Giants caught Yerkes off third and ended a fine chance for the Red Sox to score.

Seventh Inning
NEW YORK—Matty singled to center. Devore forced Matty on second. Bedient to Wagner. Doyle flied to Wagner. Devore stole second. Snodgrass out, Gardner to Stahl. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Bedient had a hard battle disposing of the Giants in the first of the seventh, the Giant batters waiting him out and fanning only after they had two strikes.

BOSTON—Gardner flied to Snodgrass. Stahl singled to short left center. Wagner walked on four straight balls. Cady flied to Fletcher. Hendrickson batted for Bedient. Hendrickson doubled to left, scoring Stahl. Wagner reaching third. Hooper flied to Snodgrass. One run, two hits, no errors.

Little Olaf Hendrickson became a world's series hero when he sent a two bagger to left, scoring Stahl with the tying run in the last half of the seventh. Hendrickson's drive was a terrific grounder which hit the third bag and bounded foul.

Eighth Inning
NEW YORK—Wood pitching for Boston. Murray grounded out to Stahl, unassisted. Merkle out, Yerkes to Stahl. Herzog singled to right. Meyers out, Yerkes to Stahl. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Joe Wood, called into the game after Hendrickson had batted for Bedient, showed the same terrific speed as in the two games which he won from the Giants and Red Sox stock jumped above par.

BOSTON—Yerkes out, Herzog to Merkle. Matty getting an assist. Speaker out, Doyle to Merkle. Lewis out, Fletcher to Merkle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Matty gave Yerkes, the first man up, three straight balls and then disposed of the Red Sox in one, two, three order.

Ninth Inning
NEW YORK—McCormick batted for Fletcher. McCormick flied out to Lewis. Mathewson fanned. Devore walked. Doyle out, Yerkes to Stahl. No runs, no hits, no errors.

BOSTON—Shaffer replaced Fletcher at short for New York. Gardner flied to Snodgrass. Stahl doubled to left. Wagner flied to Devore. Cady flied to Murray. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Tenth Inning
NEW YORK—Snodgrass out, Wood to Stahl. Murray doubled into the left field bleachers. Merkle singled to center and on Speaker's fumble Murray scored. Herzog fanned. Meyers out, Wood to Stahl. One run, two hits, one error.

BOSTON—Engle batted for Wood. Engel took second when Snodgrass flied to Hooper. Hooper flied to Snodgrass. Yerkes walked. Speaker singled to right, scoring Engel. Yerkes taking third, and on Devore's throw to the plate, Speaker took second. Lewis walked on four pitched balls. Gardner flied to Devore, scoring Yerkes. Two runs, one hit, one error.

INSANITY FAMILY TRAIT OF CRANK

Mental Unsoundness Developed in Three Generations of Schrank

THREATENED LIFE OF JUDGE

Decision of Eleven Dollar Suit Against Him Made Him Promise Death to Court

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—That for three generations there has been insanity in the family of John Schrank assailant of Col. Roosevelt, was the statement today of persons who have known him all his life. The grandfather of the attempted murderer was a rich Bavarian brewer, who had to be guarded closely during the last years of his life. The same unsoundness cropped out in Schrank's father, and Schrank himself has always been taciturn and moody, spending much of his time brooding.

Considered Little Off
Thomas Harris, president of the Liquor Dealers' association, said today that Schrank was a member of the organization and was always considered to be "a little bit off in his head." Schrank's aunt, Anna Flammang, died in 1907, and Schrank was so overcome with his grief, that fears were entertained for his sanity.

In 1911, Schrank's uncle, Dominick died, leaving everything to him. The popular estimate of his fortune was $25,000. Soon afterwards Schrank moved to Brooklyn, and got lodged near Greenwood cemetery, spending hours daily at the graves of his relatives.

Last February Schrank, apparently having suffered financial reverses, got a job in the saloon of Edward Paberstroh in Brooklyn, was discharged and brought suit for eleven dollars wages. The suit was decided against him and he threatened the life of the judge.

Schrank then came to Manhattan and took lodging at the Canal street hotel which he left to follow Roosevelt. The police found a black bag owned by Schrank in the Brooklyn hotel, where he formerly lived. It contained a photograph of the shooter, and many letters, the contents of which were withheld.

Find Money Lender
The police also know the name of a man who lent Schrank the $350 with which he started out to chase Colonel Roosevelt, but as it is admitted he had no idea of the use the money was to be put to, his identity is withheld.

The will provides $2,400 for the college education of Robert C. and the remaining $32,600 is to be equally divided between the three sons, Willis D., George T., and Robert C. Perkins.

WILSON TO QUIT HIS CAMPAIGNING

The Democratic Candidate Drops Stumping When He Hears of Roosevelt's Wound

WOULD BE ONLY ACTIVE MAN

Declares He Has No Desire to Be Only One in Race Taking Part in the Fight

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 16.—Woodrow Wilson announced last night his intention of canceling every campaign engagement from which he can possibly withdraw until Colonel Roosevelt is able to take the stump again.

"I cannot," he said, "cancel the engagements which are immediately ahead of me without subjecting those who have arranged them to serious embarrassment and great unnecessary expense, but I shall cut the series at the earliest possible point."

"Mr. Taft has at no time taken an active part in the campaign, and I have no desire to be the single candidate on the stump, engaged against no active antagonist."

Won't Attack Moose
It was learned today that in the two days of a speech making coming on Governor Wilson's abandoned schedule, the candidate will omit all political discussion of Colonel Roosevelt and the third party.

Governor Wilson tried again today to cancel his Delaware, West Virginia and Pennsylvania trip, but he found that local committees had expended considerable money for the meetings and he concluded he could not honorably disappoint them.

Is Confirmed
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Confirmation of the report that all of Governor Wilson's future dates, with the exception of those planned for the trip he is now engaged on, would be cancelled because of the assault on Colonel Roosevelt, was obtained today. In an official statement Acting Chairman McAdoo said: "Governor Wilson's statement that he will not make any further public campaigning speeches because of the injury to Colonel Roosevelt of course does not apply to the present trip. The engagements for the present week could not be cancelled but after that Governor Wilson will remain at home with the exception that he will make an address already arranged for the night of October 31 on the Madison Square garden, this city."

Upon completion of the testimony several of the aldermen said that they would vote against the revocation of Corcoran's license but that the next time a saloon keeper was brought before the council on a like charge they would vote the other way.

Several Changes on Southern Minnesota Division Are Made by Earling

The announcement of the appointment of E. G. Atkins, 321 South Sixteenth street, La Crosse, to the position of superintendent of the Southern Minnesota division of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad to succeed the late Eugene G. Perkins was received with pleasure among railroad men here yesterday.

Since the death of Mr. Perkins nearly two weeks ago, Mr. Atkins, who has held the position of trainmaster of the Southern Minnesota division for three years, has been in active charge of the division and his promotion was anticipated.

Son of Hub Atkins
Mr. Atkins is the son of Hub Atkins, who was at one time general manager of the Milwaukee railroad. Mr. Atkins entered the railroad service in the capacity of dispatcher on the Superior and Prairie du Chien division of the Milwaukee railroad and was later promoted to chief dispatcher. He was then promoted to the position of train master of the Wisconsin Valley division and in 1909 was transferred to the Southern Minnesota division at the time Mr. Perkins was advanced from trainmaster to superintendent.

Holmes Succeeds Atkins
Several other changes have been made through the death of Mr. Perkins. Frank J. Holmes who has been chief train dispatcher was promoted to succeed Mr. Atkins. S. C. Sorenson who has been chief train dispatcher at Madison, S. D., will occupy the same position here.

William Fraser who served under Mr. Perkins as chief clerk for several years will remain at the same position and J. M. Moore, 315 North Eighth street, who has been first trick operator here will be transferred to Madison, S. D., to fill the position vacated by Mr. Sorenson.

The appointments were made by H. B. Earling, general superintendent and James H. Foster, general superintendent of the northern division.

Congressman John J. Esch today began a vigorous speaking campaign which he will carry into every county of his district during the last three weeks before the election. Although Congressman Esch has been busily engaged in mending his fences and building new ones in the new counties of his district ever since the adjournment of congress, the speech which he will deliver before an audience in Owen, Clark county, tonight, will be the first given by the republican candidate in this campaign.

Mr. Esch has accepted invitations of county committees to speak in Adams, Sauk and Jackson counties next week. The last speech of his campaign will be given the night before election in the La Crosse Theater.

Mr. Esch left on the Green Bay road this morning. He will speak in Owen tonight, Greenwood tomorrow night, Granton Friday night and New Lisbon, Juneau county, on Saturday night. He has an engagement to speak in Friendship, Adams county, Monday evening and will spend the latter part of next week speaking in several towns in Jackson and Sauk counties.

W. N. Coffland, of Viroqua, the democratic candidate for congress from this district, has spent a large part of his time speaking in the smaller cities of La Crosse county. Last week, however, he started on a trip around the other counties of the district. He gave several speeches in Vernon county and will continue his campaign through every county in the district.

ROOSEVELT TO REACH CRISIS THE EIGHTEENTH

It is not customary immediately to operate in cases of this kind. The body will encapsulate the missile in a dry tissue and will do more than any surgeon to prevent infection. There was no sign today of tetanus or other complications, and we are hopeful none will develop. The colonel's condition is excellent. His temperature and respiration is normal, he is in a cheerful frame of mind and, all things taken into consideration, he could not be better.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—At 3:45 p. m. Colonel Roosevelt was resting comfortably propped up in bed and chatting with Mrs. Roosevelt. There was no noticeable change in his condition, and the physicians in attendance left their patient in the hands of Dr. John W. Golden of the hospital staff. Another bulletin will be issued at 6 o'clock.

Speedy recovery from the bullet wound inflicted night before last in Milwaukee by John Schrank was predicted for Col. Roosevelt early today unless unforeseen complications develop within today or tomorrow. It was said that he will be able to leave Mercy hospital within ten days.

Following a light dinner last evening, Colonel Roosevelt read for a few minutes, received a visit from his daughter, Mrs. Alice Longworth, and then took a short nap. When he awoke shortly before 10:30 o'clock, he asked Miss Margaret Fitzgerald, his nurse, for some hot water that he might shave himself. The water was brought, and the colonel performed a creditable shave, and then read until he became sleepy. His rest from that time on was almost without interruption.

It was learned this afternoon that the colonel's fourth rib had been fractured by Schrank's bullet. This was the reason why the first X-ray examination made at Milwaukee failed to show the exact location of the missile.

Inject Anti-toxin.
Earlier in the night he had been given an injection of anti-tetanic serum as a precaution against possible infection from the bullet wound.

Just before Col. Roosevelt went to sleep last night he told Miss Fitzgerald that he wanted his breakfast early this morning. "And mind, I want a good one, because I'm going to be hungry," he said with a smile.

Col. Roosevelt awoke in good spirits and ordered his breakfast immediately. He ate heartily and afterwards submitted to a looking over by Dr. John F. Golden of the hospital staff and Dr. John B. Murphy. The doctors said there was no noticeable change in his condition.

Must Fight Colonel.
The doctors are experimenting considerable difficulty in enforcing their order of absolute quiet for Col. Roosevelt. He would invite all his friends into his room, if he was permitted, and the doctors and nurses are compelled to use as much tact and diplomacy in fighting the colonel himself as they are tact and skill in battling his physical injury.

George W. Perkins, on behalf of the progressives of New York, today sent to the colonel's room a magnificent vase of roses.

Mrs. Wilson Wires.
Mrs. Roosevelt today received from Mrs. Woodrow Wilson the following message:

"I am shocked at the news and express my sympathy with you in your anxiety and distress. Mr. Wilson and I await the latest news with great solicitude.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson."

Frank James, brother of the noted bandit, Jesse James, sent Roosevelt a message today, the subject matter only of which was made public. He suggested that a body guard of one hundred men be selected to accompany Roosevelt wherever he goes until after the election. His suggestion was that Roosevelt appoint ninety-nine of the hundred and that he, James, would be the hundredth man and would pay all of his expenses.

Offered Colonel Coffee.
Philip Roosevelt, the colonel's cousin, today received a letter from a rich coffee manufacturer, who disclaimed any desire to advertise, but who said that if the colonel desired a good cup of coffee in the morning, whether it be the third or not, he would gladly come on to Chicago and make it for the patient with his own hands. The colonel has not been informed.

Roosevelt's secretary spent most of today answering the thousands of messages of sympathy received from all parts of the United States and foreign countries. The former

ROBBER STEALS MASTERPIECE

Breaks Into Cellar of Noted Cook and Makes Off

with 50 Cans of Peaches

Whether he was actuated by the craving of a sweet tooth and had heard of the unsurpassed quality of the preserved fruit as prepared by Mrs. P. J. Wilden, whose reputation as mistress of the kitchen has spread somewhat beyond the immediate neighborhood of 821 King street, or whether he was unwilling to leave the house, after breaking in, without booty, will perhaps never be known, but the man who robbed Mrs. Wilden's cellar Saturday night of fifty jars of fruit preserves has succeeded in arousing the indignation of the housewives of a considerable portion of the city. There is also some curiosity among those interested in the case as to how the thief managed to carry away fifty glass jars without leaving any clue. He must have made several trips as anyone knows who has tried to carry more than six slippery glass jars at once. He also used considerable discrimination in the matter of choosing the kind of fruit he wanted, having taken the entire visible supply of canned peaches and leaving untouched more than 250 jars of various other kinds of fruit and berries. It is probable that he intended to come back for the rest but was frightened away before he could complete his thefts. Mrs. Wilden discovered the theft when she went into the cellar for some of her fruit Sunday. The matter was not reported to the police.

ARREST MAN FOR YEAR OLD CRIME

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 16.—Eberhard J. Streber, a molder, was arrested on Monday on a warrant charging him with causing the death of August Brinkman, who was found dead near the malthouse saloon at the eastern limits of the city on June 22, 1911. It was first believed that Brinkman died from natural causes, but it recently was learned that he and Streber had a fist fight shortly before Brinkman was found dead.

CATARRH

We are all familiar with our old friend, a cold in the head that comes from anywhere and develops into a chest trouble with an attendant cough, unless properly taken care of promptly.

Few of us in this climate are fortunate enough to escape the aggravating hawking, spitting, dropping in the throat, difficult breathing, foul taste in the mouth, stuffy feeling in the head or full feeling in the throat, according to the severity of the case; but how many of us realize that the "chronic cold" is catarrh and even if we do name the disease, how often do any of us go about a cure for it in the right way?

It is now conceded that catarrh finds its origin in the blood and the cause, therefore, must be removed before the local symptoms will disappear. The persons who are constantly having colds and occasionally let them run into more serious diseases, the acute forms of which are curable in a short time but leave a weakness that makes one susceptible to other things later on, should make an effort to get the kind of treatment that will STRIKE at the ROOT of the trouble—that is, take medical treatment that will drive out the taint that causes the mucous membranes to be attacked and then they will make some headway toward cure.

Dr. Turbin is in town once a month and from the remarkable cures he has been able to bring about, there is no question but what he is qualified to treat and cure catarrh. Prevent the development of lung trouble, catarrh of the stomach, bronchitis and numerous other maladies by attending to that cause of catarrh at once.

SAYS MOOSE ARE AGAINST SLAVERY

Senator Record Declares Spirit of Republicans in 1865 Actuates Third Organization

OLD PARTIES ARE USELESS

He Insists G. O. P. Is Dead and the Democratic Voters Are Split Internally

Declaring that the bull moose party stands for the same principle that the republican party stood for in 1865 except that they stood for abolition of industrial slavery instead of chattel slavery, Senator George L. Record, New Jersey, last night addressed a crowd of 200 in Linker hall in the first speech of the local moose campaign.

Senator Record was advertised as "the man who will answer La Follette." He did not mention Senator La Follette's name except to read a portion of a speech of the senior Wisconsin senator in which he praised Roosevelt. The excerpt from the La Follette speech was used in a defense of the sincerity of the third term.

Refers to Shooting The only reference to the attempted assassination of Colonel Roosevelt in Milwaukee Monday evening was made by J. L. Orr, chairman of the local committee, who introduced Senator Record.

"I lament grievously," said Mr. Orr, "the conditions in this free country which permit speeches and newspapers to excite even a disordered mind to a deed of violence so unprovoked."

Senator Record devoted the first part of his speech to a parable, illustrating the development of monopolies in the United States. He began by telling of the rebate system, and passed through the stages of forcing out competition, gaining control of money and credits, and obtaining mastery of political parties. By these means, he held, the special interests have secured a position of monarchy over the people, and hold them in a subjection virtually slavery.

This condition of slavery, he said, had resulted in the formation of a new party at Chicago, the same in spirit as the republican party of 1856, semi-religious in character. The old republican party had lost the crusaders' spirit, he asserted, and consisted of standpatners, officered by discredited politicians.

Twelve to fifteen men, he asserted, control the railroads of the United States. These men pool their interests and fix freight rates he asserted.

Bigger Than Slavery

"This tendency can not be confined," maintained Senator Record. "It is more important problem than human slavery. It concerns vaster and more complicated issues. But neither of the old parties is qualified to take up the matter. A party is founded upon some certain issue, and the old parties were founded years ago upon issues now dead. They are not fitted to cope with this greater problem. They are split and divided internally, and are unable to agree on a remedy."

"An attempt has been made to switch the republican party into line for the correction of this condition. The fight has continued for several years, and culminated in the desperate battle at the Chicago convention, where the bosses defeated the progressive element in the party. So a party comes to the end of its life. It has committed the unpardonable sin of stifling the voters' voice."

"You've got to do something about it. Many men are making many millions of dollars. It is an economic fact that they cannot make an abnormal fortune without taking it from others. Thus are caused the conditions of poverty and starvation among the poorer people of the country. Women and children are forced to work long hours in factories to get the bare necessities of life. What are you going to do about it? 'Abandon all allegiance to a political party. A party is only useful so long as it is efficient. The republican party stands pat for a high tariff, and for the policies approved by Guggenheim, Penrose and their clan. There's nothing left of the anti-slavery party of 1856 but the name."

Democrats' Remedy Old

The democrats offer no new remedy. They present an echo of the past—a tariff for revenue only—as the solution of this modern problem. That is but one side of the problem. It will stop one leak, but it is not enough. They are not even consistent. They do not come out squarely for either free trade or protection, but occupy a middle ground. And they will be able to do nothing because their party is divided.

"It is true Bryan beat the bosses in the party at Baltimore. But the bosses went home from Baltimore, and were just as strong when they reached their own localities as before the convention. They will name the men they want for office, and after these men are swept in with Wilson, they will ignore him. Even if they do secure a revision of the tariff it means a year of experiment and business uneasiness while they tinker, and a consequent industrial depression. It happened under Grover Cleveland and it will happen again."

"We offer you a new united party, made up of the best of the old republican party. We will not promise to solve the problem of freeing the nation from the grip of the interests at once. We must work out our salvation by experiments, but we have a program of the step to be taken in finding the right way."

Mr. Record then went through the policies outlined in the progressive platform, beginning with the elimination of the bosses and corporate control of politics. He declared the party was for a protective tariff, fixed according to an expert tariff board. He also explained the working of the proposed industrial commission to regulate trusts. The work of this board, he insisted, was to find out the conditions and invent the remedy.

Mr. Record then attacked those who declare that the third party candidate is not sincere. He insisted that his whole career had been one of single-minded effort in behalf of the people, and quoted several instances. He added that he had never heard a machine politician praise Colonel Roosevelt.

"He had done more than any one else of our day to elevate the conditions of life and government in this country," declared the senator, "and those opposed to him are for the most part discredited men, practically thieves."

At this point he read La Follette's statement praising the colonel, and asserted that the candidate had not changed in the year since the speech was delivered in the senate.

Suffragist Speaks Following Senator Record's speech Mrs. Elizabeth Schauss, Toledo, O., made a short speech in favor of woman's suffrage.

Chairman Orr announced that meetings with Gifford Pinchot and Hamline Garland as the chief speakers were to be held in the near future.

SPOTLIGHTS

SOUSA CONCERT

John Philip Sousa and his band were the entertainers at the theater yesterday afternoon and they delighted a rather diminutive audience in a program of pleasing music. The popular bandmaster and his men have lost none of their old time skill and encores after every number were the rule. Mr. Sousa's generosity in matters of encores resembles the price of meat at present—it knows no bounds. Every sign of approval by the audience was rewarded with one of Composer Sousa's marches and after the entire act music from "the Jewels of the Madonna," it was a step from the sublime to the ridiculous, when the sounds of "Everybody's Doin' It" were played as an encore after the first named selection. Mr. Sousa always informs his audience of the names of the encores numbers on a big printed placard and this is very appropriate. The soloists, Mr. Herbert L. Clarke, cornetist; Miss Virginia Root, soprano, and Miss Noline Zedeler, violinist, have been with the band before and they were in good form yesterday, adding pleasing variety to the program. Everybody in the audience seemed to be well entertained by Mr. Sousa and his charming band.

The Missouri Girl which comes to the La Crosse Theater Saturday and Sunday, matinee and night, Oct. 19 and 20, is a bright rural comedy that pictures life in the Ozark country in every detail. It has a strong moral which always leaves a good impression, and bears the proud distinction of having the endorsement of all the leading critics of things theatrical, as well as of the pulpit throughout the entire country.

The comedy is clean, refined and exceedingly funny, being the kind of fun that you are not ashamed to have your wife, sister, mother or sweetheart see.

Mr. Raymond has equipped the play with the best of accessories and has spared no expense in making its production one worthy of the patronage accorded it.

The character of "Zeke Dobson"

is a most unique conception. Among the many impersonations of the rural type offered to the show-going public there are but a few limited cases where the author ever attempted to portray this interesting character as he is seen in real life. The stage character of the farmer is so thoroughly impressed on our minds that it is almost impossible for us to imagine a rural play without the usual impossible characters that are in many cases the serious drawback to an otherwise good play. "Zeke" is a true portrayal of an honest, bright, intelligent country boy. He says and does only what is natural; his dialect and actions are both peculiar and droll. When in the city he makes ludicrous mistakes and his idea of "city folks" and his remarks about them are extremely comical, but at the same time true to life.

Maud Powell

Maud Powell, who is acknowledged to be the greatest woman violinist and the peer of all her brother virtuosos has probably traveled more than any artist before the public today. There is hardly a country in the world in which she has not been heard. All of Europe, including Russia and Finland, has paid tribute to her art and she has been a welcome visitor in South Africa and the Antipodes. On the American continent, her playing has delighted audiences from the Rio Grande to far off Nova Scotia. The South American capitals are the only places where Madame Powell has never been heard and she has received many offers to tour on the other side of the equator, which she has had to decline on account of her many engagements in this country.

Speaking of her South African trip, Madame Powell said recently that the land of the Boers is very much like our western country, the South African veldt being synonymous with our American prairie. As a musical critic, the Boer is as enthusiastic and demonstrative as a typical westerner. She found them very fond of music and great throngs attended every appearance of her concert company. The native kaffirs, she found as musical as our own negroes. In many of their tunes, of which she made a careful study, she was able to detect a close resemblance in rhythm and melody outline to the typical music of the southern "darker."

Mme. Powell will again play in this city on Friday evening, October 18th, when she will appear at the La Crosse Theater under the auspices of the La Crosse Music Study club.

Urges Study at Home

At the opening of the meeting Principal B. E. McCormick of the high school gave a talk to the parents in which he said they must encourage their children to study at home if they want them to be successful in their school work. He also invited them to visit the classes and find out just what is being done in the school.

Mr. Hirschheimer gave a report of the manual training committee. The work was first agitated by this body in 1911 and was pushed by them until a building was prepared by the school board. Excellent work was done in the building considering the equipment. As a result of this trial the new addition is a direct outgrowth which will afford the best manual training facilities in the state.

After the business was disposed of the people adjourned to a social hour where all became acquainted. Some of the canned goods of the domestic science department was sold during this hour. Refreshments were served.

HUMORS IN THE BLOOD

When the blood becomes infected with any unhealthy humor the effect is shown by some definitely marked disorder like Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, etc. Humors get into the blood usually because of an inactive condition of the system. Those members whose duty it is to expel all refuse matter do not properly perform their work, and an unhealthy accumulation is absorbed into the blood. Then instead of performing its natural function of nourishing the skin the circulation irritates and inflames it because of its impure condition. A thorough cleansing of the blood is only certain cure for any skin disease; external applications can only give temporary relief. S. S. S. acts to the circulation and drives all humors from the blood, and in this way makes a permanent and complete cure in every form of skin trouble. It supplies the blood with the nutritive quality necessary to sustain the skin and preserve its texture and perfect appearance. S. S. S. cures Salt Rheum, and all other skin eruptions or diseases and medical advice free.

SAVE WOOD FOR TODAY'S BATTLE

Giants Chase Wood When They Slam Joe's Offerings for Six Runs at Start

SOX ALSO HIT TESREAU HARD

Jeff Has Great Support, Devore Spoiling Two Smashes Meant for Triples

(By Grantland Rice)
FENWAY PARK, BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 16.—For the first time in the world's series history the championship battle goes to the eighth game. Rushing the peerless and unbeaten Wood even more savagely than they rushed O'Brien Monday the Giants drove Smoky Joe Wood from the field with the worst beating he has ever had in his big league career. In the first tearing assault they ripped his hide off with seven hits and six runs. Before this fusillade of shrapnel and cannister, Boston sat stunned and crushed. The impossible had happened. The world was coming to an end. Gibraltar could be toppled over by human hands, for a ball club had faced Joe Wood at home in the best game and shot him to death within one round. Conceding defeat after this shoal of hits and runs, Stahl then derricked Wood to give him his chance again in today's duel with Mathewson. The Big Gun will blaze the eighth and deciding game for his people and it is almost a certainty that Wood will oppose him.

Tesreau, working in a driving gale which must have raced down from one of Greenland's icy mountains with a sting and a whip was wild, unsteady and far below form. The Red Sox hit him fiercely but brilliant support pulled him through.

Wonderful work by Devore in right cut off at least two triples, when Jeff was breaking badly, saving a hogheadful of runs. All through this rickety period McGraw had Mathewson warming up, but as the Giants continued to whale the padding out of Hall, who followed Wood, Jeff was never close to the rim of danger. It was a tough battle for any pitcher to work as the gale ripped the field into a swirl of dust and blew the ball around like a feather.

The Giants entered the seventh battle with a world of confidence and having fought their way to a long lead were never in danger.

In that first round Devore, Doyle, Snodgrass, Merkle, Meyers, Fletcher and Tesreau tore into Wood for base hits and this broke up the game then and there.

Interest in the game today is the greatest that ever crowded a single battle.

For the first time in history the gate series of a series will approach the half million mark, which means a net profit of $150,000 for each club, beyond what the players get.

NELSON TO MEET WILLE TOMORROW

Sparta and Chicago Boxers to Give a Ten Round Exhibition at Bangor

NELSON IS OUTWEIGHED

Wille Weighs Five Pounds More Than Spartan, but That Will Be No Handicap

Art Nelson, the well known Sparta boxer, and John Wille, of Chicago, will give a ten round exhibition boxing contest at Bangor tomorrow evening at 10 o'clock and the fans of this city will thus have their last opportunity to see the Spartan in an exhibition as he leaves within a few days for the east.

Although Nelson has not been in any boxing contests since August, he has been working out regularly and he is in splendid condition for the exhibition tomorrow evening. The exhibition gives every indication of being one of the best which has ever been witnessed in this vicinity for Nelson and Wille are both expert boxers who know the fine points of the game thoroughly. Nelson will be slightly outweighed by his opponent for the Spartan tips the scales at 185 pounds while Wille's weight is 190 pounds. However, this difference in weight will not cut much of a figure for what Nelson lacks in weight he will make up in speed and cleverness. Wille will arrive in Sparta from Chicago at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Nelson is working out with Kid Lewis of Gary, Ind., at Moore's pool room, and his workouts have shown him to be in the best of condition.

An eight round preliminary exhibition will be staged between Napoleon of Sparta and Kid Lewis, Gary, Ind., who will meet Parish, whom Nelson beat at Owens November 16. Both Napoleon and Lewis are middleweights and this exhibition promises to be a good one.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Chief of Police McWeeny commenting upon the crank's attempt on Colonel Roosevelt's life, exonerates the Milwaukee police. He says it would have been difficult for any man to have accomplished the deed in Chicago, due to the protection given Roosevelt here, but he lauds Chief of Police Janssen of Milwaukee as one of the country's most efficient officers.

WALSH WINS 5 TO 4 IN ELEVEN ROUNDS

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Pitcher Ed Walsh of the Chicago American league club, despite poor support, stopped the winning streak of the Chicago club of the National league on Tuesday in the city championship series, the White Sox winning, 5 to 4, by a grand batting rally in the eleventh inning. Walsh was opposed by Lavender for the second time during the series, the first meeting having resulted in a scoreless tie in the initial game.

The Americans took a lead of three runs in the second by bunting a single, double and a base on balls.

A double in the fourth and a home run by Schulte gave the Nationals two runs.

In the seventh the Nationals scored another run on a double, a sacrifice and an error. A double, a sacrifice and a long fly gave the Americans a lead in the eighth, but the Nationals came back with the tying run when a double, a fielder's choice and an error netted a tally. With the bases full and two out in the eleventh, Rath singled and scored Borton with the winning run. Score:

THREE VICTORIES FOR WASHBURN CLUB

The Washburn school indoor baseball team won its third victory last evening by defeating the Franklin school nine by the count of 8 to 2. Weigel, pitching for the Washburns, showed great effectiveness as he allowed but one lone bingle and fanned nine of the Franklin batters. The Franklin pitcher's delivery was solved easily. By winning last night the Washburn team has won three out of four games played.
